Environmental Management Commission Announces Search Process for New ADEM Director

MONTGOMERY— The Alabama Environmental Management Commission met on Dec. 23 to outline the search process for hiring a new director for the Alabama Department of Environmental Management.

The Commission is seeking a degreed professional with extensive managerial experience in the environmental arena to be the next ADEM director. The EMC is looking to fill the position vacated on Dec. 11, when Trey Glenn resigned from the state's top environmental post.

The EMC has set forth a time table in the search process which includes a deadline of Jan. 29, 2010 for accepting applications, and requests for public input. The hiring process will be transparent with all applications for the position available to the public, and interviews of finalists for the position conducted in a public meeting.

Here are remaining dates of importance established by the Commission:

Feb. 5, 2010	EMC Meeting to identify candidates for interviews
Feb. 12, 2010	EMC Meeting to interview candidates
Feb. 19, 2010	EMC Meeting to hire new director
